Read the following passage and answer the questions given after it.

Navroze, the Parsi New Year Day is celebrated by the Parsis every year on 21st of March. All Parsis join the festivities and enjoy themselves. We do not know how the festival originated but history shows that it was first celebrated as early as 6th Century BC when Cyrus and Darius ruled over the Persian Empire. Firdausi, the great Persian poet, however, says in his "Shahnameh" that the festival was started by King Jamshed to celebrate the advent of spring. That is why the Parsis refer to it as Jamshedi Navroze.

Preparations for the festival start many days in advance. The Parsis clean their houses and decorate them with roses and jasmine flowers. Beautiful designs are made with coloured powder in geometrical shapes or shapes of fish, birds and stars.

Food is an important part of Parsi festivals. Parsi food is a delicious blend of West Asian and non-vegetarian Indian cooking. At Navroze the whole family goes to the nearest fire temple in the morning where a Jashan - a thanks-giving prayer is offered by the priests. Each member offers a sandalwood stick to the sacred fire. People are dressed up in their best clothes. Children are very excited. While praying, Children wear small round caps of gold and silver brocade, men wear black velvet caps and women cover their heads with their saris. After the prayers the Parsis embrace one another and wish sal Mubarak.

The day is spent in visiting people and exchanging gifts with friends and relatives. In Parsi homes a silver tray is kept with rose petals, coconuts, red powder and uncooked rice for the tilak of the guests. Rose water is sprinkled freely on each guest.

During lunchtime, the family get together to enjoy the specially prepared meal. Food is also served to the less fortunate who cannot afford to celebrate the festival this way. Children join in giving gifts of food and clothes to the poor, thus learning early, the family tradition of helping the poor.

दिये गए पाठ्यांश को पढ़ें और इस पर आधारित प्रश्नों के उत्तर दें।
हर वर्ष 21 मार्च को पारिसयों द्वारा पारिस नव वर्ष, नवरोज
मनाया जाता है। सभी पारिस उत्सव में सिम्मिलित होते हैं और
आनंद मनाते हैं। हम नहीं जानते कि इस उत्सव की शुरुआत कैसे
हुई लेकिन इतिहास बताता है कि यह पहली बार ईसा पूर्व 6वीं
शताब्दी में मनाया गया जब फारिस साम्राज्य पर साइरस और
डैरियस का शासन था। हालांकि महान फारिस कि फिरदाँसी अपने
"शाहनामा" में लिखते हैं कि इस उत्सव की शुरुआत राजा जमशेद
द्वारा वसंत के आगमन का जश्न मनाने के लिए की गई थी। यही
कारण है कि पारिस इसे जमशेदी नवरोज कहते हैं।

इस उत्सव की तैयारी बहुत दिन पहले से ही शुरु हो जाती है। पारसी अपने घरों को साफ करते हैं और उन्हें गुलाब और जास्मिन के फूलों से सजाते हैं। रंगीन पाउडर से ज्यामितीय आकार के या मछलियों, चिड़ियों और सितारों के आकार के खूबस्रत डिजाइन बनाए जाते हैं।

भोजन पारसी उत्सवों का महत्वपूर्ण भाग होता है। पारसी भोजन पश्चिम एशियाई और मांसाहारी भारतीय पकवानों का स्वादिष्ट मिश्रण होता है। नवरोज की सुबह पूरा परिवार निकटतम अग्नि मंदिर में जाता है जहां पुजारी जशन - ईश्वर के प्रति आभार व्यक्त करते हैं। प्रत्येक सदस्य पवित्र अग्नि में चंद्रन की लकड़ी की आहुति देता है। लोग अपने सबसे अच्छे कपड़े पहनते हैं। बच्चे बहुत उत्साहित रहते हैं। प्रार्थना करते समय बच्चे सोने और चांदी की जरी वाली छोटी गोल टोपी और आदमी काले मखमल की टोपी पहनते हैं तथा महिलाएं साड़ियों से अपने सिर को ढककर रखती हैं। प्रार्थना के बाद पारसी एक दूसरे को गले लगाते हैं और साल मुबारक कहते हैं।

लोगों के यहां आने-जाने और दोस्तों तथा रिश्तेदारों के साथ उपहारों के आदान प्रदान में दिन व्यतीत किया जाता है। पारसी घरों में मेहमानों को तिलक लगाने के लिए चांदी की थाल में गुलाब की पंखुड़ियां, नारियल, कुमकुम और अक्षत रखा जाता है। प्रत्येक मेहमान पर मुक रूप से गुलाब जल का छिड़काव किया जाता है।

दोपहर के भोजन के समय, खासतौर से तैयार किये गए भोजन का आनंद लेने के लिए पूरा परिवार इकट्ठा होता है। उन कम भाग्यशाली लोगों को भोजन भी दिया जाता है जो उत्सव को ठीक तरह से नहीं मना पाते। गरीबों को भोजन और कपड़े देने के कार्य में बच्चे भी हिस्सा लेते हैं जिससे वे गरीबों की मदद करने की पारिवारिक परंपरा शुरु से ही सीखते हैं। Question Number: 53 Question Id: 973597724 Question Type: MCQ Option Shuffling: Yes Display Question Number: Yes

The Centre's reported plan to set up an asset reconstruction company (ARC) with equity contribution from the government and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is welcome. Overview of an ARC - An asset reconstruction company's primary goal is to manage and make profitable those assets which have been underperforming or become formally classified as NPA's belonging to those companies who have been unable to generate sufficient timely revenue to service their outstanding obligations. Extraordinary situations call for extraordinary responses. In the US, in the aftermath of the 2008 financial crisis, the Federal Reserve supplied liquidity to banks and restored the flow of credit. The plan, designed to give banks the incentive to replace (state) provided capital with private capital or to redeem the (state) capital when conditions permitted, worked successfully. An ARC would buy out distressed loans from banks, at a discount. Once a non-performing asset is sold off, it would disappear from the balance-sheet of the selling bank. This, in turn, would clean up its books and enable the bank to start lending afresh. True, the bank would take a haircut but that is vital to bring down the cost of the project, now taken over by the ARC, to a realistic level. Writing off of the promoter's equity, converting the banks' debt into equity and bringing the inflated project cost to realistic levels are just the beginning. Transfer to the ARC would extricate stalled projects from their promoters. To get them executed, the ARC could rope in professional managers, offering them chunks of equity when they achieve preset milestones. The completed project could be sold and the proceeds used to pay off the ARC's financiers and even kick some more money back to the banks. How should the ARC fund itself. It can issue bonds for the RBI to subscribe. Yes, this would amount to liquidity creation by the RBI, on a scale far in excess of the open market operations it undertakes in the normal course. But let us recall that the basic achievement of the Fed's quantitative easing policy, of buying up bonds, was to recapitalise the banks: relieved of the bonds they held, the banks' requirement of capital came down. By financing the ARC and enabling it to buy distressed bank. assets at a discount, the RBI would both recapitalise the banks to some extent and also help implement stalled projects. This is the time for bold imagination and action. This, in turn, would clean up its books and enable the bank to start lending afresh. True, the bank would take a haircut but that is vital to bring down the cost of the project, now taken over by the ARC, to a realistic level.
